PROJECT COMPLETE

September 15th, 2020 is a big day for locals and millions of travelers who will stop here in Utah. The first phase of the new Salt Lake City International Airport will open after a four year construction project.

It was an honor and privilege for Mountain Crane to be a part of this massive project in various phases of construction. Take a look back at just a few of the jobs we took part in. Congratulations to our team & many others who played a role in this incredible project.

PLACING THE PANEL

Our brand new 300 ton and spider man crane worked in tandem to place a 70,000 pound panel recently for a parking structure. Tandem picks require a lot of coordination and planning.

These guys just make it look easy. Well done!

LOOKING BACK

2015

Turbine maintenance at beautiful Iowa, Wind Farm in May of 2015

Dropping a 145,000 lb rotor to change the main bearing.

Here our wind team is utilizing our 900 ton Liebherr and 100 ton Manitowoc crawler as the assist crane.
