Workplace Safety Week

Mountain Crane was privileged to be a part of Utah's first ever Workplace Safety Week that took place June 23-29. Safety campaigns, media events, and outreach programs took place during this week to inform the public and raise awareness of workplace safety. There was involvement from legislation, several construction companies, and many other groups throughout Utah contributed to Safety Week. For more information regarding Utah's Workplace Safety Week check out this FOX 13 article:

As part of Safety Week, Mountain Crane nominated crane operator, Shaun Lamb for the Worker's Compensation Fund 2013 Safety Award. Shaun was honored and recognized for his safety efforts with 12 other Utah construction workers, policemen, and firefighters. Pictured to the right is Shaun Lamb and his family who were also invited to this luncheon congratulating the nominees. This event as well as the presented safety awards were sponsored through Utah's AFL-CIO Convention and Worker's Compensation Fund.

Employee Spotlight

Shaun Lamb is one of Mountain Crane's talented and experienced Crane Operators. He has been with our company since 2008. He has an excellent attitude and considerable work ethic.

His particular specialty is lattice conventional truck cranes, a crane type few operators have experience with. His P&H crane has been nicknamed the "Bumble Bee" and is probably in the best shape of its life due to the care Shaun takes in maintaining his equipment.

He received the SC&RA 10,000 Hour Safety Award earlier this year. He is basically eligible for full retirement, but he loves what he does so he keeps on at it. He is also a devoted husband, father, and grandfather.

Mountain Crane Service provides a variety of services across the Intermountain West including plant shutdowns, steel, pre-cast panels, heating and cooling units, transformers, pools and hot tubs, demolition, windmills, and bridge girders, to name a few.

Heavy Haul service is also available.

Mountain Crane Service employees receive continual training through Operating Engineers Local 3 and have their CCO Certification.
