Washed Out Bridges

Mountain Crane's Demag AC140 170 Ton All Terrain was recently involved in several different projects up in the mountains. At Smith & Morehouse National Forest, a bridge to Ledgefork Campground had been washed out and had blocked off access to 37 camp sites. Federal funds paid to replace the bridge. In order to get to the site, Mountain Crane had to cross 2 bridges that were not able to hold up the weight of a crane so "temporary" bridges were built out of inserts from our cozad trailer and put into place to transport the crane to the desired location.

- Golf Tournaments
- Employee Spotlight
- Giveaway: Giant Pumpkin

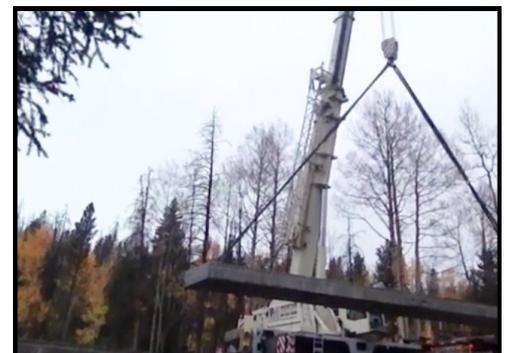

After a lot of diligent work setting up and taking down these temporary bridges, Mountain Crane was able to complete the project and open up the blocked off campgrounds which made a lot of campers and hunters very happy.

A similar project was needed at "Hole in the Mountain Trail" out of Lonetree, Wyoming. In order to place the crane into its positions for capacity lift, trees were tied back for the counter weights and rear swing to be possible. It took a lot of extra planning and coordination to not damage these beautiful environments, but Mountain Crane executed the project effectively with no delays.

Golf Tournaments

As is tradition, Mountain Crane displayed a crane at the Red Barn to welcome players in the Petersen Inc. Tournament earlier this month.

With summer coming to a close, the golf season is no longer in full swing. Mountain Crane would like to express appreciation for all the different golf tournaments that we have been able to participate in and partner with.

We know these golf tournaments are a lot of work and are a great way to support so many charitable causes, as well as spend an enjoyable day with coworkers, customers, and new faces.

Employee Spotlight: Kelly Reynolds

Kelly Reynolds is the newest addition to Mountain Crane's sales team. He has worked around large equipment and in the oil, gas, and mining industry for many years. When given the opportunity to work for Mountain Crane, he "jumped on it".

His favorite thing about the company so far is working with people who are honest in their dealings and that the company recognizes the importance of family as well as a hard work ethic.

Kelly was born and raised in Vernal, UT. He has been married to his wife for 12 years and they have four rambunctious boys and one beautiful daughter. As for pets, they have almost every farm animal you can think of and any other critters that his boys find and bring home. When his boys bring these critters home they will ask their dad to make a cage for them. He admits this is not his wife's favorite collection.

In his spare time, Kelly enjoys spending lots of time outdoors as well as hunting, fishing and camping with his family. Kelly says he has too many hobbies to mention but one that he recently starting doing is travelling around the country competing with his American bull dogs in pulling competitions.

Mountain Crane Service provides a variety of services across the Intermountain West including plant shutdowns, steel, pre-cast panels, heating and cooling units, transformers, pools and hot tubs, demolition, windmills, and bridge girders, to name a few.

Giveaway:

For the past two years, Mountain Crane has given out a giant pumpkin around this time of season and would like to continue this tradition this year as well. Mountain Crane would like to give one lucky newsletter recipient a pumpkin weighing up to 500 lbs. as this month's giveaway. The pumpkin will be delivered to a location of the winner's choice in time for Halloween.

Whether you want it for yourself, kids, or grandkids, this is a pretty good opportunity to celebrate Halloween in style!
