Ocotillo Wind Farm

Mountain Crane Service has been involved with several wind maintenance projects over the summer. This particular project took place at the Siemens wind farm in Ocotillo, California. As seen below, this project involved two of Mountain's LTM 1400 500-Ton Liebherr All Terrain Cranes working together to assemble and disassemble wind blades on each turbine.

Maintenance on these towering windmills is not an easy task and Mountain Crane is proud of its operators as well as the collaboration from Siemens that help make these projects run safely and efficiently.

Employee Spotlight

Mountain Crane is excited to spotlight Wayne Southam as the newest addition to our awesome engineering team! Wayne has been with the company for almost two months. He was drawn to the crane industry because he loves the variety of project that it allows him to be involved with: anything from setting steel, picking concrete forms, setting large vessels, to constructing wind farms. There is always a different puzzle to solve and something new to learn about. His favorite thing about Mountain Crane is the great team of people that make it fun to come to work each day.

Wayne is originally from Aurora, Colorado. He went to college at the US Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. The Air Force sent him and his family to Utah and they have enjoyed being here ever since. Wayne and his wife, Allison, just celebrated their 10th anniversary. They have three kids: a girl and two boys who are very active and fun to be around. Wayne also loves to go fly fishing and mountain biking.

Mountain Crane Service provides a variety of services across the Intermountain West including plant shutdowns, steel, pre-cast panels, heating and cooling units, transformers, pools and hot tubs, demolition, windmills, and bridge girders, to name a few.
