Honoring Our Fallen Soldiers

On Thursday, September 11, the Fort Douglas Museum hosted a ceremony remembering the 2,996 that died thirteen years ago, and to honor those who have fought for our freedom since.

The Utah Fallen Warrior Memorial was the backdrop for a crowd of military and local first responders. The event was open to the public, and the memorial can still be seen at the Fort Douglas Museum in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The monument is a piece of the slurry wall that surrounded the World Trade Center site.

Mountain Crane was honored to play a major role in bringing the 9/11 artifact to Utah. After a tour of over 6,000 miles, across 22 states, and 40 venues, the artifact now rests here, honoring our fallen warriors serving in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Big Thanks to Manitowoc Crane for participating in our fall retreat!

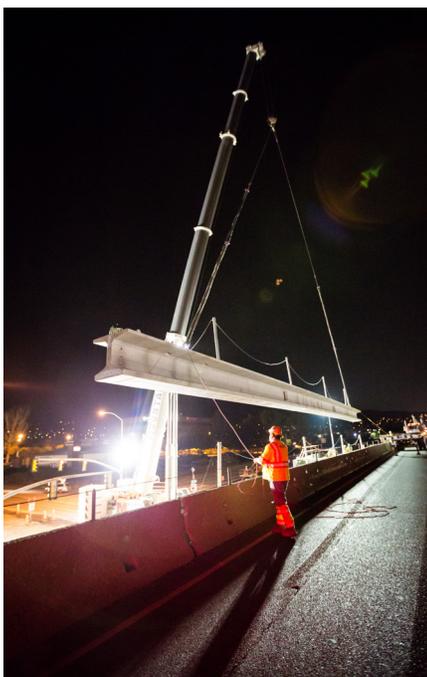

Mountain Crane Service recently took a group of key operations employees on a retreat to Wisconsin. With projects across the country, it's rare to have this many employees together at one time!

While in Wisconsin, the group toured the Manitowoc Crane Facility, and were even able to check out our new crane on the test pad! In addition to some leadership training, the group got to relax with a tour of Lambeau Field, a Brewers game, and golf at Blackwolf Run.

Big thanks to Manitowoc Crane for letting us come visit, and for taking such good care of the group while we were there.

I-15 Bridge Girder Project

Phase one of a three phase project on Utah's Interstate -15 was completed at the end of August.

The 500 ton Liebherr LTM 1400 7.1 set 85,000 lb, 115' long pre-cast concrete bridge girders along the 500 South exit of I-15 in Bountiful, Utah. The project had to be done overnight for minimal traffic flow. Mountain Crane will return to complete phase 2 & 3 of the project.

The outside lanes (completed) were put in place to widen the freeway. Until the project is completed, traffic will be re-routed & we will return to replace old, existing girders on the inside lanes.

September Giveaway - Win tickets to a Utah Football Game!

Mountain Crane is excited to give away a set of four tickets to the University of Utah's upcoming game against the #2 ranked Oregon Ducks on Saturday, November 8. The winner will be given a parking pass as well as prime seats to enjoy the game.
