Placing a Steeple Housing

After waiting out some winter weather, our team and 900-ton all terrain crane partnered with Okland Construction to hoist a 40,000 steeple housing atop the temple in Taylorsville, Utah. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints is building this temple along with several others through the country and world. We are honored to be involved in the building and maintenance of several of these structures.

CRANE 101 WHAT'S A JIB?

A jib is a boom attachment that gives the crane operator greater reach. Some are fixed jibs and some are luffing jibs, often called “luffers”. A fixed jib extends reach, but cannot be adjusted where a luffing jib extends reach and the operator can raise or lower the jib. They are often used in situations where the operator needs more tip-height or reach.

We Are Thrilled to Announce the Successful Aquisition of Olsen Crane

From Official Press Release:

Mountain Crane Service, the 15th largest crane company in North America, with projects throughout the US and Central America, is excited to announce the acquisition of Olsen Crane & Rigging based in Lindon, Utah.

Mountain Crane's owner, Paul Belcher said, "Mountain Crane is continually looking for avenues of growth, expansion, and opportunities to meet our customer's needs. Olsen Crane and Mountain Crane are both family-owned companies with common values and business models that complement each other well. We see the merging of our companies as a great benefit to both of us."

Olsen Crane & Rigging began in 2000 when Craig Olsen saw an opportunity to begin the business with his sons, Bryce, and Steve. Since that time, their business has grown, and they have provided a great service to their customers. Bryce Olsen states, "We've always had a great working relationship with Mountain Crane. Paul invited us to lunch one day to propose the idea of an acquisition. It was at that time, over Chick Fil A, that we first discussed the idea of a buy-out." He continued, "I remember Paul told us at that time, 'We can buy cranes anywhere, what I am most interested in is the leadership at Olsen Crane and the opportunity to build upon the current customer relationships.'"

Steve Olsen, the oldest son, also stated, "We always wanted to take Olsen Crane to the next level. We care a lot about our customers, we knew this was just the opportunity we needed to better serve them. With Mountain Crane's industry experience, outreach, extensive fleet, and engineering expertise, we knew they would be able to elevate us."

Since the beginning, both parties have been extremely committed to making the process positive, mutually beneficial, and a smooth transition for the customers of Olsen Crane.
